CHEAP ADVERTISING!

We call special attention to the

as the best advertising medium for the states of Georgia, Florida, Alabama and the Carolinas.

WE GUARANTEE 23,000 CIRCULATION!

One year the circulation of the Weekly was 9,000. It is now 23,000, and is rapidly increasing. This circulation is supported by affidavits and by our lists, of which inspection is invited. We intend to push it to 50,000 within the coming year.

Contracts for advertising may be made now, based on present circulation, at little more than Half a Cent a Line Per 1,000 of circulation.

This is the cheapest and best advertising offered by any medium in the world.

Indications for the South Atlantic states at 1 a. m.: generally fair weather, northeast to southeast winds, nearly stationary temperature.

When the English parliament reassembles Mr. Gladstone will give the plan of his redistribution scheme. At the same time he will insist upon the passage of the franchise bill before that question can be considered in legislative session.

The death rate from cholera has reached three hundred daily in Naples. The state of affairs in the city is impossible of description. King Humbert is in the city endeavoring to restore confidence among the people. In many other parts of Italy, the situation is equally as bad.

WALKER BLAINE puts himself forward as the agent to announce to the world the fact that Maine has given seventeen thousand majority. The last time that Walker Blaine was heard from was when he went to South America with Mr. Prescott and got lost. The sons of great men are generally useless pieces of furniture.

The Missouri republicans are very anxious that the so-called Frank James democracy in that state should be routed. If they would look over in New Jersey they could see a thriving lot of republican bank presidents upon whom they might spend their epithets.

THE RESULT IN MAINE.

If there was anything in the "personal magnetism" of the plumed knight—any thing really substantial in the so-called Blaine boom, of which Editor Moses Handley spoke so confidently awhile ago to one of the correspondents of THE CONSTITUTION—it ought to have made itself felt with tremendous effect in Maine last Monday. Ordinarily, Maine is safely republican by at least twenty thousand, and with her favorite son as the republican candidate for president, the grand old party in that state ought to have made a tremendous scuffle to bring out an improving vote in the October election.

It ought to have made a tremendous scuffle and it did. Strong and serious appeals were made in the organs inviting the brethren to stir themselves in behalf of the party. Money was forwarded into the state, and this influx of cold cash was followed by the campaign orators, who went beating around through the bushes and "plantations" of Maine, firing the hearts of those whose hearts ought to have been fired without regard to orators and money.

The result, as it was expected to be, was an increase of the republican majority. Those who had been following the lead of Uncle John Chase and his speckled steers, returned to their republican allegiance, and others concluded to vote the ticket this year mainly because the state had furnished the presidential candidate. But in spite of this, the democrats are serene, as they have a right to be. With a republican candidate whose record filled all the moral requirements of the better class of republicans, the democrats would have been snowed under in Maine; as matters stand, they can afford to feel gratified that the republican majority is no larger than it is.

In addition to this, it should be borne in mind that the democratic campaign in Maine was merely a formal one. No special effort was made; none of the energies of the organization were wasted in that direction. It is to be presumed that the organs, which have been predicting a majority of twelve thousand (just think of it—twelve thousand) in a state which usually gives twenty thousand, will show a proper amount of enthusiasm, but if they are satisfied with what thoughtful people must regard as a barren victory at best, the democrats have no right to complain.

The most significant result of the Maine election is the enormous majority given to the prohibition amendment.

Total prohibition has been tried nowhere so long and so faithfully as in Maine. For about a third of a century the making, selling or importing of liquor has been prohibited in that state. The trial has come to be something more than an experiment. It is a settled policy.

In the last few years an anti-prohibition crusade has been urged. The agitation has been thorough. Distinguished men have been arrayed on each side. The issue has been fully and ably presented in the newspapers. Nothing has been lacking to make the campaign exhaustive on either side. By common consent it was agreed that the whole question should be submitted to a popular vote in the election of Monday, and it was agreed that it should be separated from politics by being made a distinct issue. It was to be voted on by democrats and republicans alike, and on separate tickets from those on which the candidates were voted for.

The result of such an election, where the prohibition issue was submitted clear, distinct and unimbarassed, it was realized must be decisive. It has proved more than this. By a vote of nearly four to one the prohibitionists have swept the state. They have a majority of 60,000 in a total poll of about 90,000. There can be no evading or revoking such an overwhelming verdict as that. In Maine, at least, where it has been tried for so many years, prohibition is the settled and permanent rule; and the prohibitionists the country over will draw inspiration and strength from the tremendous majority by which Maine has declared her opinion.

A DUTY FOR EVERY CITIZEN.

There are but ten days left for the registration of voters in this country, the books closing on September 20th.

Less than 200 voters have registered and the most of these are colored voters. Under the law no one can vote in October elections who is not on the registry list. Unless the good people of the county act promptly, those important elections will be left in the hands of a few hundred people who have taken the trouble to register.

More important than this. The registry list that is closed on the 20th will be in force for the November elections unless a new registration is ordered between now and that date. The law on this subject says that when two elections occur within sixty days of each other there need be but one registry list, and the books and lists made for the former election shall be used in the ensuing election.

It is probable that no other registration than the present one will be had. Voters, therefore, who fail to register before the coming 20th will be disfranchised in the November election. There is no telling what may happen, and it is the duty of every good democrat to have his name put on the registry list. Do not wait for the last day. The rush then will be tremendous. Go at once—to-day is the best time. Register and be done with it.

A MOVEMENT IN THE RIGHT DIRECTION.

We are glad to note that a strong "sportsman's association," with a capital of $25,000, has been organized in Macon, and that it is in the best of hands.

The love of athletic sports is as old as human nature. The necessity for innocent amusement is recognized by all observant and intelligent men. A sincere and eloquent divine stated in his pulpit in this city, a few weeks ago, "It is the fault of this Christian church in this country that she has not recognized fully enough this amusement as a loving faculty of the people, and by wise and conservative measures, turned it to the glory of the church and the glory of God." The best educators and the wisest philanthropists in this country and in Europe have passed beyond the point of sneering at an instinct that is universal, and have endeavored to train it and control it in the right direction, rather than smother it. The splendid athletic organizations all over the north and in Europe bear testimony to this, and confirm the wisdom of the assertion that the perfect education is that which educates both body and mind—and the perfect civilization is that which offers wholesome and hearty amusements to the people, that they may not be driven to those that are unwholesome and unhealthy.

The Macon association is organized for the purpose of encouraging skill with the shotgun, the protection of fish and game, the promotion of athletic sport, and of fellowship and a high standard of action among true sportsmen. It is, as we have said, in the hands of the best people of that city, and will, we are sure, do a good work.

A STINGING REBUKE.

The other day some pert and ignorant republican campaign manager in a western state wrote a letter to the late Lot M. Morrill, of Maine, beseeching him to enter the campaign in behalf of Mr. Blaine. Senator Morrill, against whose honesty and good name there has never been the shadow of a charge, had been dead some years, but the letter reached his widow, who was properly indignant.

Mrs. Morrill replied to the letter in such terms as the document deserved, and, later, was seen by a newspaper reporter, to whom she spoke with some degree of emphasis. "Much as I mourn my husband's death," said this venerable lady, "I thank my Father in heaven that He called him home before the party he loved so well and did so much for had so disgraced itself as to nominate so wicked and corrupt a man for the highest office within the gift of the American people, as I know, and my husband knew, James G. Blaine to be. If my husband were alive," the lady continued, "he would not support Mr. Blaine, or any such man even at the bidding of the party."

Mrs. Morrill's utterances are important from several points of view. In the first place, she represents the memory of her dead husband, who was such a republican as Abraham Lincoln was. In the second place, she is on the spot, as the phrase is. She lives in Mr. Blaine's town. She is his neighbor, and has reason to know him. In the third place, she represents the moral sense of those who have a reverence for virtue, honesty and modesty, even in politics.

We infer from various hints in the New York Sun that Ben Butler is about to roll up his pantaloons.

An exchange asks where the young men of the country are. As a matter of fact, they are striving to grow up honest and respectable. They have joined the democratic party.

THE Edmunds iceberg in Vermont refuses to thaw.

ACCORDING to the newspapers, Lotta is red-headed and as full of devilment as ever. But, alas! Lotta is one of the few actresses in this country who will not be indicted next June. She is twenty-one if she's a day.

They are having baseball in New York. Very well. We are glad New York has concluded to follow the example of Atlanta.

YOUNG CYRUS FIELD is striving with deadly effect to win a place in Blaine's cabinet.

The medical society and the board of health of Macon express the opinion that the danger of water contamination from Rose Hill cemetery is very remote, but they recommend immediate action looking to the discontinuance of the use of the hill as a burying ground. Atlanta has already placed herself on the safe side of a doubtful question by providing for the laying out of a new cemetery. Notwithstanding the opinion of certain eminent scientists to the effect that cemeteries in close proximity to cities do not contaminate the drinking water supply, the weight of popular belief is against such a theory, and the matter is of such serious importance as to justify every reasonable precaution.

When the president heard of the death of his secretary of the treasury, he exclaimed, "My old Charley Folger died." Then I must decline the British admiral's dinner! This is the story "Goth" tells.

The course of the New Jersey bank president and cashier in committing suicide after a fraudulent failure cannot be too highly commended. When bank officials dishonestly wreck the fortunes of other men, they are richly deserving an infamous death, and if far enough gone to drive them to self-destruction they will have very few mourners behind.

AN exchange wants to know if the starring tour of Colonel Stoddard is not an outrage. He simply poses as a wax figure, or something of that kind.

The defendant bank must know how to use concealed weapons, as it were.

The bank officer who commits suicide is not nearly so shrewd as the one who slips off to Canada.

As a resort for defaulters, Canada is taking the palm far away from Texas. Canada must be annexed. Let the utilities be preserved.

EDITOR DANA declares that Vermont will cast its vote for Blaine in November. Just so. But Vermont won't cast Edmunds's vote for Blaine in November.

ONE of the curiosities to be exhibited at the New Orleans exposition from South Carolina, is a palmetto stump completely petrified. It was dug up recently from the sand beach near Mount Pleasant, and is said to be a specimen of solid stone, and the grain of the palmetto wood is easily discerned. It is regarded by geologists as a remarkable specimen, since no instance is on record of palmetto wood being petrified.

TANNEY will support the democratic nominees. So far as we are concerned, we frankly say to Mr. Kelly that all is forgiven.

How about Ohio? Here is another problem for the distracted republicans.

BUTLER thinks he will be a good enough democrat after the election to run for governor of Massachusetts.

The campaign orator and the soda fountain are wrestling for the championship. Thus far the orator is ahead on fizz.

THE republican victory in Maine last Monday was a dangerous thing for Mr. Blaine. The prohibitionists issued with the republicans in order to secure the adoption of a straight prohibition amendment. The Germans are taking control all over the country with marked distrust. They will now compel Blaine with summary legislation, and as they do not want anything of the sort they will naturally side with the party which does not propose to abridge any of their rights.

THE issue the republicans lack in Ohio is Dancy.

THE democrats have every opportunity of stirring up things in Ohio during the present month. We trust they will want in and turn the rascals out.

MR. JOHN R. WINSTON, of North Carolina, claims in a letter published in the Charleston News and Courier, that North Carolina lost more men in the war than any other southern state.

THE European nations are just as ready to slaughter and plunder as they were centuries ago. France has her hand on China's throat. Germany has just occupied in six hundred miles of African coast line. England is taking entire control of Egypt and of the whole Nile valley from Cairo to Khartoum. Russia is destroying the last spark of liberty in Finland, working all along the line that divides her Asiatic province from Asia, and cutting out a way south from the Caspian sea via Persia to the Indian ocean.

Train-Wreckers Arrested. MASSACHUSETTS, La. September 9.—Three negroes have been arrested, charged with attempting to wreck trains on the New Orleans and Pacific railroad. This is the fourth attempt. Three attempts were directed against trains on the Mansfield railroad. An investigation is to be held in a few days. If the evidence is conclusive the accused will probably be lynched.

ECHOES OF THE PEOPLE.

Prohibition in Maine. A. G. S., Sanderaville, Ga.: What is the nature of the constitutional amendment adopted in Maine last Monday?

It prohibits the manufacture of intoxicating liquors, with the exception of cider. It is thought advisable to exempt cider in the interest of the apple crop. But as cider is intoxicating it is probable that the Maine legislature will regulate its sale.

Sara Bernhardt. C. H. W., Amistown, Ala.: Is Sara Bernhardt coming to the city to appear in the theatre next year? No, but they have voted it out of many of the towns.

Local Opinion. R. M., Athens, Ga.: Have the people under local option laws voted wisely out of any large city in Georgia? No, but they have voted it out of many of the towns.

Atlanta Needs a Board of Health. EDITOR CONSTITUTION: The writer knows your paper is valuable and will not trespass. He is a searcher after information and not specially a discriminator. What I want to know is whether Atlanta has a health board or not—men of common sense and practical education as regards health matters. The city is becoming a death-hole. Our city claims a health inspector who goes around and looks after dead chickens in back yards—a very clever and efficient young man, who no doubt performs his duties to the best of his ability—but who could not discriminate for the life of him between the picture of Psyche from that of Hygieia.

The fact that the soil, impregnated with the accumulation of filth of years, is turned up to be exposed to the rays of an August and September sun, lying bare, numerous leaking gas pipes and stinking sewer drains, emitting miasma, which enter our home and sleeping apartments in the most insidious manner, and that the main sewer on every hand, is enough to startle the people. The city is a cesspool of a low form of filth and miasma, and the city council should be urged to take prompt action to clean up the city. The city is a cesspool of a low form of filth and miasma, and the city council should be urged to take prompt action to clean up the city.

Non-professional people who have never studied the science of health, professing to be doctors, are writing their theories on the city council. The city council should be urged to take prompt action to clean up the city. The city is a cesspool of a low form of filth and miasma, and the city council should be urged to take prompt action to clean up the city.

Assistant Republican Democrats. MISSOURI, Editor: I am glad to see the earnestness and effectiveness of the service which THE CONSTITUTION is rendering to the cause of democracy and good government in the present campaign. The course of the paper in this regard is marked enough to attract attention. In itself it is a masterpiece of journalism.

As a friend to honest government and an enemy to republican rule, I take pleasure in testifying to the faithful and effective service of your paper in the interest of the triumph of the democratic candidates, and through them, of reform in government and the city council at its next meeting will adjudicate the case.

The Columbia Stender Suite. COLUMBIA, S. C., September 9.—[Special.]—The interest in the McDaniel-Bruce-Fulger slander case has not died out. Francis F. Fickling, a lawyer of Columbia, experienced a marked ability, has undertaken the prosecution for the case for the plaintiffs, and W. H. Lyles, a young attorney of excellent parts, has assumed the management of the defense for the defendants. The case is now being tried in the circuit court of Columbia. The case is now being tried in the circuit court of Columbia.

Death of Richard Jones. COLUMBIA, S. C., September 9.—[Special.]—Mr. Richard Jones, for many years the popular and capable treasurer and clerk of the city of Columbia, died in this city yesterday and was buried to-day. He had been suffering with a cancer for many months, and his death was not unexpected. His funeral was largely attended. Mr. R. M. Anderson will be his successor.

Brief Mention About Columbia. COLUMBIA, S. C., September 9.—[Special.]—Joe Fyfe passed through the city to-day en route for Chicago, where he goes to join Huntley's dramatic company as comedian. Joe is a clever boy, and a bright future before him.

Governor Thompson has appointed Mr. J. C. Buchanan, of Winchester, beneficiary student of the Virginia medical college, to the position of surgeon in the Virginia military hospital. Captain John McKenzie has returned from a trip to the north. He looks much better. Eugene Cramer, manager of the opera house, has been elected to the position of president of the musical and dramatic companies. Builders represent that Columbia enjoys a real estate boom at present. Numerous handsome private residences are building and others are projected. The city is a cesspool of a low form of filth and miasma, and the city council should be urged to take prompt action to clean up the city.

SICKNESS IN COLUMBIA. Colonel Charles S. Sawyer, of Allen, a member of the board of penitentiary directors, is confined to his room in the Grand Central hotel with sickness. He was confined to his room for several days, and is now recovering. He is a very capable and efficient officer, and his confinement is a great loss to the board.

An Unfounded Report. THE Evening News of Macon publishes a sensational telegram from Atlanta, in which it is stated that Mr. M. M. Anderson is to be elected mayor of that city. The report is entirely unfounded. Mr. Anderson is not a candidate for mayor, and is not likely to be elected.

An Artesian Well. COLUMBIA, S. C., September 9.—[Special.]—It is proposed that an artesian well be bored at the intersection of Poplar and First streets, near the city hall. The citizens are taking the matter in hand, and the probability is that it will be done. A good subscription list has been headed, and much interest is being taken in it.

A Bit of Larceny. Only a bit of larceny. The whirr of a wing in a second's grace. Could have it away without a trace. No light was the fairy bit of lace. Hardly the thing for a song! But wait; There is a story to relate.

Summer in Calverdes. A woman all wet and old. Her hair as white as the driven snow. There is a house where eyes with tears are red. But the bit of lace is done. See! the lace is done, Sir Priest. Oh! wait. The day is done, though sometimes late!

Summer across the seas. Summer on land, in sky. Summer in a heartless heart at ease. There was a lady who was very kind. Gifts from a lover, who kneels to please. Good mood as it fits by. Oh! wait. My sweet! 'Tis bought! The man comes late!

The First Cotton Shipment. TALLADEGA, Ala., September 9.—[Special.]—The Amistown and Atlantic railroad received and shipped its first cotton to-day, that being the two hundred and fifty-first shipment. The cotton was shipped by Messrs. Ledbetter and Webb, of Talladega, Ala., and was shipped to Amistown and Sydney a good price, being the first cotton of this season received there.

CAROLINA MORSELS.

An Organization for the State's Exhibit at New Orleans. COLUMBIA, S. C., September 9.—[Special.]—An organization has been effected in this county, the object being to secure a creditable exhibit of our products at the New Orleans cotton exposition. At the last meeting much important work was mapped out. Captain W. D. Starling presided and Frank Hampton acted as secretary. Committees were appointed to work up the matter in every township in the county. The committee for the city of Columbia consists of Colonel A. M. Parrot, Captain J. H. Sawyer, John T. Rickett, George A. Philp, F. W. Fing, F. W. Huseman and Thomas Taylor. Another meeting will be held next week.

The Second Week of the Cotton Season. COLUMBIA, S. C., September 9.—[Special.]—The second week of the cotton season was opened auspiciously in Columbia. The fleece staple is coming to town in large quantities, and the buyers, sellers and business people generally are made glad. In consequence of the active movement in king cotton, traffic has become brisk.

The Greenback Pool. COLUMBIA, S. C., September 9.—[Special.]—Hendrick McDaniel, the greenbacker who was master of ceremonies at the recent farce, called an independent conference, which occurred here, has returned to Charleston to resume his duties as editor of the Independent. He professes his ability to start a peaceful political revolution in South Carolina which shall sweep both the democratic and republican parties from the face of the earth. He is to achieve this momentous work he is to be used to at present.

The Cashier's Mistake. COLUMBIA, S. C., September 9.—[Special.]—Captain J. H. Sawyer, the genial and accommodating cashier of the Carolina National bank of Columbia, was subjected to a bad scare yesterday morning. He was knocked down by Mr. Hodnett, who was carrying a large sum of money in a bag. Mr. Hodnett was taken to the hospital, and Mr. Sawyer was left with a bad cold. The cashier's mistake was to allow Mr. Hodnett to carry so much money in a bag.

A Patriot in Difficulty. COLUMBIA, S. C., September 9.—[Special.]—An execution against J. Hendrick McDaniel, the greenbacker, for his poll tax, due in Richland county, has been placed in the hands of a bailiff. He could be served the delinquent has taken his departure. It is said that McDaniel has conscientious scruples against paying a poll tax; that he looks upon it as an unjust democratic measure, designed to suppress the poor voter. As the law stands, he will either have to pay the tax or go to jail. He may decide upon the latter alternative, and then he will be in a very awkward position. He is a patriot, and his patriotism is his difficulty.

Enforcing Public Decency. COLUMBIA, S. C., September 9.—[Special.]—The city ordinance relating to prostitutes, mention of which was made, was practically tested for the first time by his honor Mayor Rickett. Two of the so-called sinners transgressed the law and were taken before the municipal court of justice to answer for their conduct. They pleaded "not guilty," but the evidence was so strong against them that the court found them guilty. They were fined and ordered to leave the city. The court's decision was a good one, and it is to be hoped that it will be a warning to others.

A Political Challenge. WHICH PASSED BETWEEN COLONEL R. D. LOCKE AND HON. WASHINGTON DUNN FOR A JOINT DISCUSSION. COLUMBIA, S. C., September 9.—[Special.]—Saturday morning, September 9, a discussion between Colonel R. D. Locke and Hon. Washington Dunn, for a joint discussion of the presidential election, took place at the residence of Hon. J. H. Sawyer. This note was handed Mr. Dunn to-day. He was called on this afternoon, and he stated that he would respectfully decline, on account of previous engagements, and would not notify Colonel Locke to-morrow. His engagements are, Thursday at Jackson, Butts county, and Monday at Thomson.

Amusements for the State Fair. COLUMBIA, S. C., September 9.—[Special.]—Colonel Greer, the secretary of the Georgia state fair, said to-day: "We are going to give the people of Georgia, during the approaching fair, some of the best amusements that can be gotten together. We have arranged to have baseball, shooting, bicycling, fireworks and racing. For the latter have heard of a number of good teams, and we will have a good race. We will have three crack runners. The female handicraft will be the finest display ever known in Georgia. I do not think the building will hold it. It will be very fine and better than was ever exhibited at a state fair in this state."

A DASH FOR LIBERTY.

AN OUTBREAK IN THE BIBB COUNTY CHAINING. Amusements for the State Fair. A New Enterprise. The Wiley Guards. Local Challenges. The Legislative Race. Harris, Gustin and Bartlett the Ticket.

MACON, September 9.—[Special.]—Yesterday afternoon occurred a general revolt among the prisoners of the county chain gang, stationed in Howard district, near Mr. Abbot's place. There are about thirty-five in the gang, and a serious danger imminent. Charles Lowe, a notorious white man, was sentenced by Recorder Patterson this week to forty days in the chain gang. He swore that he would not stay there, but no attention was paid to his threat. He was taken out and put to work night before last. He complained of being sick, and was given medicine. He had arranged with two negro convicts to make a break at a certain time when the guards were unwary. He had permission to rest a few minutes, and was doing so when the negroes took him by surprise. While he slipped away from the gang into a big gulley near. This attracted the attention of the guard, who ran after him. This only left one guard for the whole gang. The negroes, with a signal, stepped aside, and while the guard was watching his companion and Lowe, they dashed away. A general stampede resulted. The negroes were captured, and Lowe made his escape. THE CHICAGO MARKET.

Features of the Speculative Movements in Grain and Produce.

By telegraph to The Constitution.

CHICAGO, September 9.—Early trading in wheat today resulted in a lower range of prices than had heretofore been known this year. No. 2 cash wheat sold at 75¢ and wheat for October delivery at 75¢.

In early transactions there was a frantic effort on the part of the long crowd to get rid of their property, owing to continued depression of prices for foreign grain, and the fact that 90,000 bushels in the visible supply and larger receipts at all the primary receiving points. The future and excitement was heightened by liberal selling on the part of the shorts, and predictions of 75¢ for wheat this week. There was a rebound from the lowest point, and few selling shorts showed even greater anxiety to cover than the longs had early in the session to unload and prices advanced 1¢ in almost a twinkling, and closed on the regular board at the top of the day at 76¢.

The market board was suddenly acquired strength and prices rose 1/2¢ to 3/4¢ and closed 3/4¢ over the regular session at 76¢ for September, 77¢ for October, 79¢ for November and 80¢ for December.

Corn ruled quiet, but still a large business was transacted. Flour was steady, but the closing prices show very little change as compared with those of yesterday, with the exception of a decline in November, owing to favorable reports from the corn belt and the prospect for an early maturing crop.

On the afternoon board October and November contracts were sold at 17¢ for September and 18¢ for October.

Lard firm, closing at $7.10 for September, October and November.

SPOT CASH.

At the bare mention of Table Linens and Towels, we arise to say that our stock is full of elegant new things, and knowing as we do, when and how to buy goods cheap, we are enabled to silence the artillery of our competitors by naming a line of prices which they can't get in rifle range of. Spot Cash did the work.
